NEGRO WOMEN FIGHT.

A General Melee Among Denizens of Willow Tree Alley.

Rose Palmer, of 340 Willow Tree Alley, was badly cut in the head yesterday afternoon in a free-for-all fight. Her assailants were Louisa Blackburn, the largest colored woman in South Washington, and Jennie Tyler, who lives with her at 34 in the same alley. Hi feeling has existed among the participants in the fight for some time past, but what the cause of yesterday's melee was has not yet been determined.

When Policeman Carlin arrived in the alley in response to a summons from John Wise he found the women pommelling each other and the contents of the Paleach other and the contents of the Palmer house in a badly demolished condition. The floor was bespattered with blood from an ugly wound on the Palmer woman's head, inflicted by the smashing of a lamp in the hands of Lou Blackburn. The furniture was overturned and broken, the stove legs had been broken off and all the glass and crockery in the house was in pieces. Sergeant Montgomery and Policeman Green soon joined Carlin and the women were londed into a patrol wagon and taken to No. 4 stationhouse, where they were locked up. Bosa Palmer was sent to the hospital to have her scalp sittlehed and to receive such other medical attention as was found necessary.

AFFAIRS OF THE DISTRICT

Complaint Relative to the Naphtha Street Lighting Service.

Mr. Nicolai's Self-Imposed Task of Espionage - Regulations Governing the Collection of Garbage-Pri. ente Brown's Case Disposed Of.

L. S. Nicolai, self-constituted watchman of the city's interests in the matter of naphtha lamps, while attending to this elf-imposed duty at a very early hour vesterday morning, was discovered by the lamplighter whose route he was following, and an altercation ensued. The implighter, Mr. Nicolai alleges, threw his ladder at him, which the latter caught, escaping without injury. Language unfit for publication, Mr. Nicolai further aleges, was used by the lamplighter in expressing his sentiments. Mr. Nicolat's nocturnal wanderings in search of violations of the regulations governing the lighting of naphtha lamps are the subject of a long letter addressed to the District Commissioners. Only the latter part of last week Mr. Nicolai pre sented a complaint to the Commissioners concerning thirty-six lamps on Meridian Hill, which he claims were not lighted until long after the time set.

In the present case, Mr. Nicolai ros before 4 o'clock in the morning to discove er if the regulations governing the ex-tinguishing of the lamps were being observed, and his adventures and discover-

"After having called your attention, some thirty-six naphtha lamps on Meridto get out on the Hill to watch the sam lamplighter and located myself at the rear of the large stone dwelling situated at Florida Avenue and Sixteenth Street northwest, at 4 o'clock a. m. This is the point of extinguishing lamps, my resideace being at 1432 Blnney Street north west. I discovered a great number of lamps not burning at the time named or my way down Sixteenth Street to where the lamps are extinguished and finally I liscovered the lamplighter. After he had seen me at a distance he called and wayed his hand for me to come over, which I did like a man. When we met I spoke and asked the lamplighter what he want-ed. He replied by asking if my name was not Nicolai. I responded by saving 'Yes. He then asked what I was doing out here watching him. I told him as a citizen taxpayer it was my privilege to watch him or any others.
"He then standered me by using pro fane language of the worst kind and charging he would break my neck. At charging he would break my neck. At the same time he picked up his six-foot ladder and undertook to use it by striking me, but falled to do so. I would respectfully ask that this particular employe be called down, as well as several others doing work in the naphtha work at present.

"Once before I called your attention to the fact it was dangerous to fill naphtha lamps at the time of extinguishing, when the lights should contain a light as required in the contract, but they are still guilty of the act mentioned above.

"Now, in my opinion, the American Development Company of Chicago, Ill., the present contractors, are being supported and allowed too many privileges by the employes of the electrical department of the District of Columbia, which should not be done by terms of the contract with them. Therefore I would suggest that the Major and Superintendent of Police be requested to look into this matter and report whether the charges made by me are not correct."

not correct."

Mr. Nicolal stated verbally that the lamps yeaterday morning at 4 o clock, exactly twenty-ax minutes before the time set for the purpose by the regulations of the Engineer's department. Mr. Nicolal contemplates causing the arrest of the lamplighter on a warrant charging him with attempted assault. He states that he does not know the name of the lamplighter, but that he is an Italian and easily identified.

Bystanders kept the boy from interfering, and finally, on Daley's promise that he would not renew his attack, Watts let him get up. Daley was said to have then secured a piece of lead pipe and threatened to kill Watts, but the latter avoided another encounter and had Daley arrested.

Private M. M. Brown, of the Metro politan police force, tried before the Trial Board on August 13, has been found guilty on the charge of neglect of duty, and the Trial Board recommends that h be fined $5. This finding, with the addi-tional recommendation that the policeman be warned that failure to comply with the regulations governing the police will necessitate vigorous action on part of the department, is filed with the District Commissioners for final action. The specific offence charged against the policeman was his failure and neglect to procure a warrant for the contractor who was plastering certain houses at Val-ley and Q Streets northwest when or-dered to do so by Sergt E. J. Keefe. In dered to do so by Sergt E. J. Keefe. In the testimony taken before the Trial Board Sergeant Keefe testified that on the morning after he had directed the policeman to secure the warrant that Brown came to him and stated that he had overslept himself, and had not obtained it. Brown reported sick, and had complained several months previous of having had a sore leg. Brown stated on the stand that he was sick the day the order was given, and that he had been under the charge of a physician for the past fortnight. He slept, as he says, under the influence of an opiate in the stationhouse that night, and no one waking him on time, he overslept.

He filled the report of his attending physician to the effect that the policeman had been unfit the duty for some time.

TWO WILLS IN LITIGATION

The Property of Alberta Stewart and Dr. Williams Involved.

The Alleged Testament of the Minor Child Protested Against-The Bequests of the Druggist Stated to Have Been Made Under Threats.

Caveats were filed yesterday in the probate branch of the Supreme Court of the District, in which protests were entered igainst admitting to probate the wills of Alberta Stewart, a minor, and Dr. Frank S. Williams, the druggist, who conducted the drug store at the corner of Ninth and F Streets northwest for a number of years. It is expected that the contests these cases will result in some very interesting developments.

In the case of Alberta Stewart, the ntestants are Charles F. Rosewag, Annie Maria Rosewag, Mary Gertrude Rosewag, Godfrey Rosewag, jr., William H. Rosewag, and Ella V. Johnson, who are stated to be uncles and aunts of the deceased on her maternal side. It will be remembered that a few days after the death of Alberta Stewart, who, it is said, was about sixteen years of age, a paper writing pur-porting to be her last will and testament was filed for probate. The document was not signed by the alleged testatrix, nor was it dated.

It was, however, stated that the document was in the handwriting of Alberta Stewart, and was written in the presence of other persons. According to the terms of this document, the testatrix disposed of her estate, valued at about $90,000, to her uncle, Albert Stewart, her aunt, Anna Belle Stewart, and her cousin, Frank

The contestants in the petition filed vesterday protesting against the probating allege, first, that it is not the last will of the testatrix; second, that she was not capable of making a valid contract or deed, and that she was not of sound and disposing mind; third, if she did execute the document it was done under undue influence relatives; fourth, that the paper writing was not intended as a last will and tes-tament, and lastly that the document was not signed by the testatrix.

The caveators ask that issues be frame and the matter adjudicated by the court They state that the personal estate of Alberta Stewart is valued at about $90,000 one-third of which consists of a quarte one-third of which consists of a quarter interest in the estate of her grandmother. Elizabeth Stewart, and the remainder in real estate near Metropolis View.

In the case of the contest over the will of Dr. Frank S. Williams the initiatory step was taken by Arthur Lee Williams, his son, who is named as the beneficiary. The proceedings were instituted in behalf of the caveator by his moder. Helen F. Williams, who secured a divorce on the her husband, Dr. Frank S. Williams in April, 1996.

husband, Dr. Frank S. Williem and April, 1960.

Proceedings were institute at Mrs. Williams for divorce by Dr. Jiams in January, 1969, and in March. that year were withdrawn.

In the caveat filed yesterday it is alleged that Dr. Williams executed the will and codicil filed for probate under the compulsion of threats made by his brother, Arthur Williams, while the latter held him in confinement and restraint of his liberty.

Dr. Williams conducted a drug business at the corner of Ninth and F Streets, and by his will left his estate in trust for his son, Arthur, until he should arrive at the age of twenty-one years. In the event of the death of the latter before reaching that age it was directed that the estate should be divided between the testator's brother, Arthur, and his sister.

In his answer, Faunce denies the charges, and states that the business was sold to the Kramer Fish and Game Company for $529, a sum which amply paid tors. Faunce alleges that he took the best and fairest way of securing to his credi-tors the payment of their accounts. The Kramer Fish and Game Company answers in practically the same manner as Faunce, and reiterates the statement that the company paid $29 for the business, an amount which the company deemed amply sufficient to pay for the same. The company denies any intention of fraud, or any knowledge that Faunce intended anything wrong, and avers that the transaction was an honest business transaction.
